01

Process before polish

Japanese and Korean clients often ask about process and reliability before style.

The final visual alone tells them very little.

- ✗ Final visual only
- ✓ Brief, process, work in place

Show how you got there

Brief

What was asked and what made it hard

Insight

What you learned that changed the work

Process

Rounds, reviews, native checks, sign-off

Show what it became

In place Assets on the real channel, not flat artboards

Deliverables Every format and size you produced

Results Only real numbers, with their source

02

Label concepts as concepts

If it’s a mockup or an unbuilt idea, say so.

Being clear builds more trust than letting people assume.

Show how you got there, not just where you ended up.

Taking a Western brand into Japan, Korea or wider APAC?

Give me a shout
